

Open Studio Class with Dr. Art Bacon

January 8 - February 26, 2019

The Open Art Studio class for adults provides the opportunity for art enthusiasts to work on their own drawings and/or paintings, with the media of their choice.

Dr. Art Bacon teaches in a workshop setting with individualized coaching. As he paints, he demonstrates and articulates technique and methods. Students are encouraged to interact, ask questions and work on their paintings in a casual atmosphere. During the sessions, Dr. Bacon coaches and critiques with each student one on one and in small groups, based on the needs of the students.

Each student is responsible for bringing his or her materials and media.

If desired, they can be stored between scheduled sessions at the museum. Easels will be provided, if acrylics are the media of choice, we will be glad to share our supply. If participants are interested in painting in between classes at the museum, we are glad to accommodate!! Dr. Bacon will also organize related sessions for the participants, dates to be decided with the group.
